

4 August 2009

1. Today I created this example of a journal entry.
2. I had a problem finding the print screen button because I am working on a laptop.
3. I tried to remember how I solved problems like this in the past and then I remembered that some functions like print screen are only available when you press the second function key (in purple). This solved my problem.