Linkin Park's website has a spark about it. The red coloured picture in the background. The center in which the video links are found. The 'home' word across the top of the website tells us what page we are on.

The ONE website is quite plain but that is why it is so effective. The black really stands out amongst the plain white background. Also the banner is simply separated from the rest of the page with a big black thick line.

28/9/07	http://www.sunseeker.com.au/index.php		This web site has simple setup. Clean and efficient. A logo not surrounded by anything else in the top left hand corner. No picture as to hinder the dropdown menu. and the white on black background works really well and it looks great.
30/7/09	http://www.upshot.net/		I absolutely love this loading bar. It's a clear ball that slowly fills until it is full - 100%.

			The other thing I like about this website is its clear layout. The wording is clear but not normal. Instead of the usual top navigation bar there.
